> THE WEATHER.-Such charming winter weather as we have had this season is most certainly worthy of newspaper notice; yet we hardly dare to whisper a word respecting it lest old boreas, out of mere jealousy, should set up a howling in our ears. The days for a week or more have been warm and spring-like, the nights without frost until Thursday morning last, when there was a slight white frost. Farmers in our neighborhood have improved the season of fine weather by plowing.
